

"Plant Biology Mini-Symposium"
as part of UF Fulbright Speakers Lecture Series

Friday, March 20, 2015
10:30 AM – 12:30 PM
Fifield Hall—Rms. 1304-08

Distinguished Speakers

Emilio M. Bruna, Ph.D.

Distinguished Teaching Scholar and Professor, Department of Wildlife Ecology and Conservation & Center for Latin American Studies, a Faculty Fulbright Scholar in 2009-2010 in Brazil

Topic: "Plant demography in a political, agricultural & biological hotspot"

Annette Fahrenkrog, PMCB Ph.D. Candidate

Fulbright PhD student from Chile in the Plant Molecular & Cellular Biology Program in the School of Forest Resources and Conservation

Topic: "Tree genomics: unraveling the genetic regulation of important quantitative traits in eastern cottonwood (Populus deltoides)"

Lilit Vardanyan, Ph.D.

Senior Research Scientist, UNESCO Chair-Life Sciences International Postgraduate Educational Center (Armenia), current Visiting Fulbright Scholar in the Soil and Water Sciences Department

Topic: "Phytoremediation by hyperaccumulator plants with special reference to Pteris vittata"

For more information contact Dr. Charles Guy at clguy@ufl.edu. Networking and complimentary lunch after the lecture. Seats are limited!

This event is part of the Fulbright Lecture Series sponsored by: UF International Center, UF Institute of Food and Agriculture Sciences, Department of Environmental Horticulture, UF Graduate School, and the Fulbright Association—North Florida Chapter