University of Florida International Center

The OFFICE FOR GLOBAL RESERCH ENGAGEMENT (OGRE) facilitates internaitonal research to increase UF's global presence. OGRE supports faculty to advvance international research.

In pursuit of international research excellence, our role is to:

- INTRODUCE faculty new to international research to active university networks and experienced mentors.
- o CONNECT faculty, students, and staff with those who share research interests and are interested in working in similar countries or regions.
- o FOSTER research networks for internaitonally focused communities of practice.
- EXPAND UF's knowledge and capacity in working in international venues.
- ASSIST faculty, students, and staff in identifying sponsored research opportunities and programs.
- FACILITATE the process of navigating the UF administrative process for conducting international research.
- o SUPPORT Fulbright visiting scholars at UF, and UF scholars travelling abroad.

1. INTRODUCTION

This report documents international activity at the University of Florida. The 2018/2019 update presents the global footprint for the Frederic G. Levin College of Law for the academic year. Similar to last year, the data summarize a considerable volume of international activity, and continues to be testimony to the University of Florida's and the college's commitment to international research, education, and international exchange. The University of Florida International Center is honored to serve and support the university community's global engagements. Our programs bridge the international community to the gator community whether it is here on UF's campus or at destinations around the globe.

The intent of this report is to showcase and highlight the extent and reach of UF's and the Frederic G. Levin College of Law international activity in one inclusive review. In full, the report documents the College's commitment to international partnerships, faculty research tied to global and international themes, the investment into faculty development programs, the number of international visitors working and studying in the college, the number of international students enrolled in college programs, the extent of applications

- 170 international applications from 54 countries.
- 46 international students enrolled in classes in Fall 2018.

- Faculty and staff made 34 trips to 19 countries.

for programs from students worldwide, the number of law students who participate in study abroad programs, and a summary of where faculty, students and staff are travelling. These activities contribute to a fundamental university goal to prepare our students to navigate the increasingly complex challenges of a globalized world.

The data represent a snapshot of international activity captured in August 2019. For many categories, the numbers fluctuate throughout the year; for example, the number of formal agreements with foreign institutions changes daily as new partnerships are introduced and others expire. Data for sponsored funding does not report proposals in the review stages; and therefore, the dollar value may be underrepresented. For some data, such as for international student applications and the number of international students, the report captures Fall semester numbers to avoid double counting and redundancies. Clearly, as a preeminent public university, faculty engage in research and international collaborative activity that is, by its size, a challenge to document. For this reason this report cannot be comprehensive of all international activity; however, it can provide a benchmark from which we can begin to measure our global reach. Indeed, every indication suggests the gator nation extends substantially to the wider global community.

2. INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENTS

The University of Florida connects to the world's best international universities and institutions through formal partnership agreements. These agreements facilitate research among faculty; enable faculty and student exchanges; protect intellectual property; and serve as a basis for ensuring ethical best practice. The relationships that may flourish as a result of these agreements is an important desired outcome of our internationalization efforts.

in numero College of Law

- Five agreements in five countries.
- Two Cooperative Agreements and three Reciprocal Agreements.

The University of Florida manages 517 different agreements. The majority fall under two broad categories of Agreements – Cooperative and Reciprocal. The Cooperative Agreements are as diverse as the needs of our faculty. They represent collaborative partnerships and do not represent a legal relationship. Often they start as a one-to-one collaboration with a UF partner and over the length of the agreement result in meaningful scholarly partnerships. The second largest type of agreements are Reciprocal Agreements that are a true exchange program where students from each institution spend time at the host institution as a non-degree seeking student. On occasion, special agreements are facilitated among universities to accommodate unique circumstances for student exchanges which are included in the "Other Student" category. Additionally, the UF Office of Research oversees agreements that cover international collaboration tied to clinical trial studies, data confidentiality and non-disclosure agreements and contracts, and memos of understanding with international third party collaborators.

The Agreement database is dynamic. On a regular basis, the International Center enters into new agreements, updates existing partnerships, and terminates those that are expired or no longer relevant. The data tabulated in this report represents the UF Agreements for the 2018/2019 academic year. Faculty and staff in the Levin College of Law are involved with five agreements. Three are Reciprocal and two are Cooperative.

The geographic diversity is generally tied to the size of the unit. As such, of all UF units, IFAS has the largest global footprint tied to their agreements in 46 countries (Table 2-2). The College of Law has established agreements in five countries – Brazil, Chile, Columbia, Israel and the Netherlands.

3. INTERNATIONAL SPONSORED PROJECTS

The data representing sponsored activity include projects that have an international connection. These might include projects funded by international and domestic funders for activities – research, teaching and engagement abroad, or with international partners. Some awards included in this list might also fund non international activities; however, if the prime funder is not located in the U.S., then the project is classified as international. In addition to reporting projects with direct ties to international activity (both domestic and international), the report also includes a summary of sponsored projects that have a foreign sub-award where UF is funding international collaborators.

Defining International Awards

The report summarizes sponsored project activity in an attempt to document the impact of sponsored international work at UF. The list of sponsored projects includes all active and expired projects during the 2018/2019 academic year. For many awards, it is not always clear which can be defined as international. Although the Office of Research attempts to isolate international research, often faculty who study foreign cultures, conduct fieldwork abroad, partner with international collaborators, or depend on international data, do not identify their proposed research as "international" when they submit their proposal to UFIRST -- the university proposal and award management system. As a result, the summary presented here is not a comprehensive list, but a baseline, that allows us to begin to document funding for international projects.

The list of sponsored projects includes all active and expired projects. The amount reported is the full project dollar award which can span multiple academic years. It is only a snapshot of sponsored activity at the University of Florida.

Awards by College

To the best of our ability to document international research, UF has 594 separate active, expired, and terminated awards totaling $295,042,068 for the 2018/2019 academic year. Of all funding, 75 percent comes from four units – the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences, the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, the Herbert Wertheim College of Engineering and the College of Medicine.

The average size of award varies across units. The Graduate School, Office of Research and the Warrington College of Business have relatively fewer awards but of higher dollar value. The Florida Museum of Natural History, College of Pharmacy, College of Public Health and Health Professions, the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences and the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences all have awards that average greater than $500,000.

4. INTERNATIONAL VISITING SCHOLARS

International Visiting Scholars are vital in supporting the global mission of the University of Florida. International Visitors promote cultural exchange, enrich international research, and connect UF to leading universities in the world. For the 2018/19 Academic Year, UF hosted 1,538 International Scholars. Visiting scholars fit into one of five categories:

 Professor – Teaching is the primary function; more than 50% of their time devoted to teaching. Maximum duration is five years.

- 2. Research Scholar Research is the primary function; more than 50% of their time devoted to research. Maximum duration is five years. The majority of Law International Visiting Scholars fall into this category.
- 3. Short Term Scholar Program allows research and teaching. Maximum duration of six-months.
- 4. Student Intern International students completing an internship that fulfills an educational objective towards the completion of the student's degree from their home institution. They must engage in a minimum of 32 hours per week of structured internship activities and may take part-time UF courses. The maximum duration of their program is 12 months.
- 5. Other include international faculty who are visiting UF as part of another federal program.

The Levin College hosts 13 international visiting scholars. The majority (9/69%) are longer term research scholars and four (31%) are short term scholars working with the college for up to six months.

- College received 170 international student applications from 54 countries.
- Of all international student applications to UF, 1.4% apply to the College of Law.
- 70% apply for a Professional Graduate Degree and 15% for a Master level degree.

For all academic programs in the college, more female students applied than did male students. For the master degree, a substantial number of international applicants did not reveal gender and of those applicant who did, the majority are male. For the professional graduate degree, more female students applied (Figure 1).

International Applications by College

A little more than one third of all international applications are for programs in the Herbert Wertheim College of Engineering. The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences have the second highest rate of applications followed by the Warrington College of Business. For bachelor degrees, the majority of applications are to the college of Liberal Arts and Sciences. For master level programs, the Herbert Wertheim College of Engineering receives more than half of all UF applications. For doctoral programs and professional graduate degrees, the largest number of applications are to the Levin College of Law (47%), followed by the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences (36%) and the College of Medicine (31%).

6. INTERNATIONAL STUDENTS

Each year, the International Center welcomes and assists students from around the world to help them make a smooth transition to student life at the University of Florida. The data reported here reflect UF's submission to the Open Doors Report to the US Department of State, Bureau of Educational, and Cultural Affairs.

The Open Doors Report includes counts of all international students registered for the Fall 2018 semester. There are 46 international students enrolled in the College of Law, which is one percent of all international students at UF. Additionally, there are 17 students participating in the Optional Practical Training (OPT)<sup>1</sup>. When including them in the total count of international enrollment in the college, the total number increases to 63. OPT students represent 27% of all international students in the college.

Within each college, the proportion of international students enrolled in undergraduate, master, or doctoral programs varies. The majority of students in CLAS, Education, HHP, IFAS, and UF Health programs are enrolled in a doctoral programs. In Business, Design, Construction and Planning, Engineering, and Law, the majority are pursuing a Master Degree. The College of Journalism and Communications has a substantial majority of international students at the undergraduate level (Table 6-1).

7. STUDY ABROAD PROGRAMS

Studying, interning, or conducting research abroad is recognized for the high impact value added to a college education. Study abroad experiences can expand a student's worldview, build confidence, and contribute to a greater awareness of cultures and perspectives. These competencies are vital for preparing our students for a rapidly changing global workforce. The International Center continues to invest in study abroad programs by providing services that facilitate the experience and offering various models of study abroad to engage increasingly more students. This year, we continue to invest in developing experiences in more unique destinations, attracting students from fields of study that do not have high rates of study abroad, engaging faculty who are new to study abroad programs, and promoting experiences that appeal to a diverse student population.

For example:

• UF Law Costa Rica Program: Partners with the Organization for Tropical Studies and the UF Center for Latin American Studies

in numero College of Law

- 15 College of Law students studied abroad.
- Of all students who graduated in the 2018/2019 academic year, 15% included a study abroad experience.
- 87% of all Law study abroad students are female.
- The majority of study abroad students participated in a Fall semester program.
- Students travelled to seven countries. Costa Rica and Italy are the most popular destinations.

Tropical Conservation and Development Program, building interdisciplinary bridges between law, policy and the social and natural science of conservation and sustainable development. Law and graduate students from the U.S., Costa Rica and elsewhere work with faculty to develop their knowledge and skills to find practical, policy-relevant solutions to issues of immediate importance to the conservation and sustainable development community.

Study Abroad by College

With few exceptions, almost all colleges had students participate in a study abroad program. This past academic year, 15 law students travelled abroad for a University of Florida sanctioned study abroad experience. This represents 1.5% of the college student population<sup>2</sup>. This calculation is based on the annual number of students in a given year and does not reflect the percentage of students who have a study abroad experience while at the University of Florida (Table 7-1).

&lt;sup>2</sup> The percentage of students is calculated by dividing the number who participated in study abroad during the 2018/2019 academic year by the total number of students registered in the college in Fall 2018. This includes all undergraduate and graduate students both on campus and online.

Study Abroad Student Profile

Of the 15 students participating in study abroad, 87% are female; only two male students participated this past academic year. Three quarters of those students are white and one quarter are black or African American.

Graduating Students and Study Abroad

In the 2018/2019 Academic Year, 423 students graduated from the College of Law. Of all who graduated, 63 had participated in at least one study abroad program during their time at the University of Florida. Almost all who studied abroad were pursuing a law degree. Only one master's student had a study abroad experience (Table 7-4).

Table 7-4: Graduating Study Abroad Students by Academic Level

Among UF Colleges, the Warrington College of Business has the highest percentage of students who study abroad for students pursuing both an undergraduate and Master's degree. Almost half of Warrington Master level students participate in a study abroad experience. The Colleges of Design, Construction and Planning, and Journalism and Communications also have a relatively high percentage of their students participating in study abroad prior to graduating. The College of Liberal Arts and Sciences sends the greatest number of students abroad.

8. TRAVEL REGISTRY

University of Florida faculty, staff, and researchers travel internationally as part of their official UF duties. For example, they may travel to attend conferences, collect field data, engage in outreach activities, collaborate with partners, participate in meetings, recruit students, etc. Prior to travelling abroad on university business, all are required to register with the UF International Center Travel Registry. As such, the registry database provides a glimpse into the extent and purpose of travel. The following tables use the data from the travel registry to summarize travel for the 2018/19 academic year.

More than half of all trips account for travel to attend conferences. Substantially fewer (15%) for travel to

in numero

College of Law

- College of Law faculty and staff made 34 trips

Table 8-1: Purpose of Travel

The travel registry tracks all University of Florida related travel and would include trips by faculty, staff, alumni, affiliates working on UF programs, and students traveling for reasons other than for study abroad (which is documented in the Study Abroad section of the report). Of all College of Law related trips, more than 91% are by faculty and 9% by staff.

Across UF, half of all travel is from the three largest units – the Institute of Food and Agricultural Sciences, the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences and the Herbert Wertheim College of Engineering.
